

The Girl you thought she was

BY: BAYAN ZEQLAM

She is the person you want her to be. She is the person she told you She wasn't. The sad ,lonely person. She is sad. lonely. everybody around her treat her like the thing she doesn't want to be. All around her fake people that she will never be able to trust. Especially with her feelings, she just keeps it in her never to be let out. She is the target of bullying. Putting her down making her feel worse about herself everyday. She doesn't even want to go to school anymore, she would act sick to not touch school grounds that day. Everyday she hopes for a great happy day, bully free. But no none of that non-sense.

She feels like an ant, all alone in the corner for no one to notice her. Her mom makes her feel the most confident. even though she may get a bad grade her mom will never stop loving her. Her mom works hard to make her happy. but all this girl does is yell at her not knowing where to go with all the anger. Others might think she is a "happy soul". But really she is the person you thought she was.