

Once there were two brothers named Billybob and Jeff. They both loved soccer. They always played whenever they had time. One day, they had a soccer game and they played for Portugal. Billybob was a forward and number 10 and Jeff was a goalie and number 5.

They woke up early in the morning because they were excited about their game. Then, they ate breakfast really fast, brushed their teeth, got dressed, and got brand new soccer shoes that had not even come out in the store yet. They hopped in their green Lamborghini. They arrived at the stadium a little bit late but the coach was not angry. He wanted a ride in the Lamborghini but the boys said “No”. He needed them to be there in time so they would know the plan for the game. The game started and Billybob passed to Jeff. Then, Jeff punted back to Billybob who took a touch and scored. That put the team up by 1 goal. The opposite team had the ball and it was hard to get it away from them, but then the whistle blew meaning the first half of the game was over. Second half began with the opposite team having possession of the ball. They dribbled past Billybob and Jeff’s team and shot the ball into the net. Time was going by quickly! Billybob got the ball and started to pass and dribble down the field.

Billybob crossed the ball and another player “headed” the ball into the net. They were now up 2-1.

Billybob took the ball back and had possession of it. This is when the official blew the whistle to end the game. Both teams lined up to shake hands and then went to the locker room. Coach talked to them about the great game they played and then they all went home and tried to get some shut eye.

They woke up the next morning and found out that it was a dream. Their real names were Dario and Tarik who were real 12 year old soccer athletes playing for Midwest United. They both are amazing soccer players, they also are very handsome.

The dream that never happened

Written by Dario Bonazzi

The dream that never happened

Written

By Dario Bonazzi

illustrate by Dario

My book is dedicated To My Aunt Kristine she help me write my first book.